The Daily Press.

HONGKONG OFFICE: 14, DES VUEX ROAD CL.
LONDON OFFICE: 131, FLEET STREET, E.C.

HONGKONG, 16th December, 1901.

ACCORDING to a telegram from Peking, dated the 6th instant, to the North China Daily News, Prince CHING, following the advice of the representatives of Great Britain and the United States, has made the four following suggestions to the Throne, viz., that the heir-apparent Pu CHUN should be disinherited, that the Grand Secretary Yung Lu should be kept away from Court, that TUNG FUHSIAN should be deposed, and that the so-called regency of the Empress Dowager should be abolished. To the first and third suggestions, according to our Shanghai contemporary's correspondent, the Empress Dowager gave a reluctant consent. The second and fourth she absolutely rejected. As is already well-known, an Imperial decree was issued from the Palace at Kaifengfu on the 30th November, announcing that Pu CHUN was deposed from his position as heir-apparent and ordered to quit the Court. However, it seems that the decree so far is a mere form, for, according to a private telegram received in Shanghai last week by the friend of an official connected with the Court at Kaifengfu, although Pu CHUN has been disinherited and also ordered to leave the precincts of the Palace at once, he is still residing in the vicinity of the Empress Dowager's apartments and continues following her about. This we are not surprised to learn, makes people doubt the sincerity of the Empress Dowager's decree. There were recently many reports about the disgust of the Dowager at the very dissipated character of her selection as heir-apparent, from which it was surmised that she would be anxious to get rid of the young man. In fact, we were definitely told that she was about to do so. It is therefore rather unexpected that she should now show reluctance and after the issue of the decree of disinheritor permit it to become a dead letter. The consent to the deca-pitation of General TUNG FUHSIAN, it may be imagined, would not cause a great struggle—in the first place, because he is much discredited now, and secondly, because he is out of reach. The rumours of the great forces which TUNG and Prince TUNG were collecting to march on Peking and intercept the returning Court have entirely ceased to circulate, and it may be gathered that they were originally nothing more than rumours. TUNG has for many weeks sunk entirely out of notice. His capture, it is true, might be a matter of great difficulty, but the remnants of the reactionary party at the Imperial Court are hardly likely to make any efforts to save him from his well-deserved fate.

That the Empress Dowager should be unwilling to banish Yung Lu from the Court is easily to be understood. Recently he has been, to all appearance, the guiding spirit at Hsinanfu and Kaifengfu, and has proved himself the strongest man among the surviving members of the Conservative party. What is not so easy to understand is the attitude said to have been taken up by Yung Lu himself. According to our Shanghai correspondent's telegram of the 13th inst., SHENG has received a despatch from him, in which Yung Lu speaks of disregarding the personal danger to him involved in the return of the Court at once to Peking, on the ground that delay threatens the reigning dynasty. Yung Lu thus seems to be posing as a disinterested supporter of the Imperial family, ready to sacrifice his fortunes in its cause. This is a new role. We should not like to say it is a mere assumption, but Yung Lu's previous career does not exactly inspire confidence in his protestations.

Prince CHING in his fourth suggestion urged the abolition of the Empress Dowager's so-called regency. A few months ago this would have been a very bold proposal as coming from a Chinese not identified with the Reform party. Even now it may be imagined that Sir ENEAS SARGENT and his American colleague exercised a good deal of persuasion on the Prince before he consented to put forward what the Dowager must consider as crude a suggestion. The termination of the Empress Dowager's usurped reign is bound to come, and to come soon, but it is not astonishing that she should "absolutely reject" the idea even yet. It is said that Viceroy YUAN SHIKAI has been instructed to learn the opinions of the foreign representatives on the answer of the Empress Dowager to Prince CHING's proposals and to report to the Throne. The Peking correspondent of the Daily News added, in the telegram referred to above:—"Although the date for the departure of the Court for Peking has been fixed by Imperial decree for the 14th instant, whether there is to be any further change of date will depend on Viceroy YUAN's report." The telegram which appears in to-day's issue sets at rest the question of the Court's start from Kaifengfu. According to this, the appointed date, the 14th instant, saw the Imperial departure on the way to Peking. We are still, however, in the dark as to the final answer to Prince CHING's proposals.

Kwok Tak Tung, the ring-leader in the affair which led to the Capatsum murders on 13th August last, will be hanged in the prison on Thursday. The other two fishermen who were convicted along with him but whom the jury recommended to mercy have been reprieved.

In the monthly carbine competition of "A" Machine Gun Co., held yesterday, Gunner E. A. Irving scored his first win on both the No. 1 and No. 3 Cups. Gunner Brown won the No. 2 Cup outright and Lieut. Nicholson and Gunner Irving and Emmett each won a spoon.

At Happy Valley to-day the Hongkong Football Club "A" Team will play H.M.S. GLOOM "A" Team, the kick-off being at 4.15 p.m. The following will play for the Club: J. P. Jordan, goal; T. W. Hornby and W. G. Worcester, backs; E. G. Smith, E. W. Carpenter, and L. V. Bennett, halves; P. A. Cox, E. E. Deacon, H. S. Moberly, W. W. Clarke, and R. Kerr, forwards.

An extraordinary general meeting of the Dairy Farm Co., Ltd., was to have been held on Saturday at the Company's office, 2, Albert Road, to consider and, if thought fit, pass the following resolution:—"That the figures in Article No. 10, Clause 15 of the Articles of Association of the Company be altered to read $1,500 (Fifteen hundred Dollars)." A quorum of shareholders did not attend, however, and the meeting was adjourned till Wednesday next.

Mr. Sixto Lopez has received a telegram stating that his private secretary Mr. T. T. Patterson, whose arrest in Manila caused so much sensation there, has left Manila for Hongkong by the s.s. Yamato Maru. Mr. Patterson is accompanied by Mr. Fiske Warren. It would thus appear that the U.S. authorities are not allowing the action in the Manila Supreme Court to serve as a reason against Mr. Patterson's deportation, although it is possible that the Court has decided against him.

A circular despatch from the Colonial Office is reproduced in the Gazette, notifying the application of the law as to merchant seamen deserters to Honduras.

A despatch from the Secretary of State for the Colonies, enclosing the letter of acknowledgment from the Mansion House of Hongkong's contribution to the National Memorial to the late Queen Victoria, is published in the Gazette.

A report received in Tokyo states that Marquis Ito will not return to Japan until the end of March or the beginning of April next. It is reported on good authority that the Marquis will return to Japan by way of the Siberian railway.

The Telegraph Companies notified us on Saturday that the telegrams exchanged with the North are no longer subject to delay and that the cable to Amoy has been repaired. They also notified the receipt of London advices that traffic in the North of England has been delayed owing to the general breakdown of the lines by snowstorms.

At the Magistrate's Court on Saturday, before Mr. J. H. Kemp, Harold T. Overton, a private in the R.W.F., was convicted of having stolen a silver watch, value $7, from a shop at 63, Queen's Road Central on Friday, and was sentenced to three weeks' hard labour. He went into the shop and asked to see some watches, and as soon as he got this one in his hand he bolted, but was caught by the police.

Some curiosity was excited on Saturday morning, says the N.C. Daily News of the 10th instant, by the wanderings of H.M.S. Hunter between H.M.S. Pique and the Footing shore. She had to leave the buoy to which she was moored while her engines were being overhauled, because it was wanted for H.I.G.M.S. Geier; and the tugboat on her quarter had some difficulty, owing to the wind and tide, in straightening her up until a friendly police launch came and guided her head round.

Messrs. Brich Georg & Co. say in their Weekly Share List, dated Hongkong, 14th December:—"The market continues to be weak with little of interest to report." With regard to China Manilla they say:—"We learn that the company intends to increase its capital by $5,000,000 (making $1,500,000) by the creation of 10,000 new shares at $50 each, the new shares to be offered to the shareholders first in the proportion of one new share for every two of the present shares. A meeting has been convened for the 28th inst."

The return of deaths in the Colony during October last, just published in the Gazette, shows that 31 members of the European and foreign community (26 civilians, 5 from the Army), and 541 Chinese died during that month. 151 deaths were due to chest affections and 82 (48 European) to malaria. No 2 district claimed 148 of the Chinese deaths. The principal death rates in the different registration districts were:—British and foreign civil community 33.4 per 1,000 per annum; Chinese, Victoria, land 26.5, harbour 21.0; Chinese, whole Colony, land 24.3, boat 20.5, land and boat 23.8; whole civil community 24.1.

"Sir James Mackay paid us but a flying visit last Saturday," says the Pootung Echo of the 7th inst. "Arriving at the fifth hour, he spent the afternoon with the Chairman of the Chamber of Commerce and others, discussing matters connected with his Mission, dined at the British Consulate, witnessed the performance of Liberty Hall at the theatre, and left at midnight for the Pagoda Anchorage. He was accompanied by his two Secretaries, Mr. Cockburn, Assistant Commissioner, and Mr. J. W. Jamieson, Commercial Attaché. Sir James Mackay started from Shanghai for Nanking and river ports on the 7th inst. and was expected to return before Christmas."

Religion bridges great gaps, says the P. & T. Times, a remark which has been well illustrated this week on the entente between the Muslims of the Chinese City and the Punjabis and Hill-men of the Hongkong Regiment. During their fourteen months in the North the Tientsin moulehs have extended much hospitality to the men of the Regiment who used the chief mosque. These amonities have been reciprocated; and both Chinese and Indians have used the same cemetery. The moulehs accompanied by the Chinese Mahomedans on Wednesday made two journeys to the West village and presented the men with two honorary umbrellas, banners and scrolls, thus testifying to the excellent relations between the two parties. The presentation was accompanied by much music and refreshment, attracting a large crowd of natives and Indians.

A daring robbery is reported as having taken place in the Hongkong Hotel. A Mr. Inman, who has been for some eighteen months past a storekeeper in one of the outlying military depots in Manila, arrived in Hongkong by the Zafiro at the end of last week to join the Gaelic for Australia. Until the Gaelic should sail he took a room at the Hotel, sharing it along with a young man whose acquaintance he had made on the passage. On Friday morning Mr. Inman went to take his bath, leaving his purse, containing over $1,000 in notes, postal orders, drafts, and gold, underneath his pillow. His companion was in bed. When Mr. Inman returned the young man had gone, but his bag and umbrella remained. Mr. Inman found his purse all right, as he at first supposed, for it was as bulky as ever. He went later to the office of the Police Mail to book his passage and on opening his purse discovered to his dismay that it contained nothing but newspaper cuttings. The police were at once informed and active search is being made for the thief, who it is thought must either be in the Colony, yet or in Chinese territory.

At the Shanghai Volunteer Corps' annual rifle meeting Corporal Mackintosh and Trooper Aldridge fired for the Gold Cross, with 303 out of a possible 350. On firing off Corporal Mackintosh won.

The dispute as to the valuation on which the ad valorem duty of 5 per cent. is levied on Japanese coal has been settled, the N.C. Daily News says. The average value fixed upon is Haikwan Ts. 4.60—Shanghai Ts. 5.15, per ton.

An outbreak of plague having been reported from Formosa recently, the Sanitary Bureau at Tokyo has notified the superintendent of all quarantine stations to enforce strict measures for the disinfection of all vessels coming from Formosa.

On the 9th inst. at Tientsin a man of the 4th Punjab Regiment, who is supposed to have run amok, fired at two men of his own regiment and killed them. Then he entered the store-rooms of the German Brigade and fired more shots. He thereby fatally wounded Controller Ehlert, two German soldiers seriously, and one slightly, before the German sentinel could kill him.

The Peking correspondent of the N.C. Daily News telegraphed on the 10th inst.:—"H.E. Lu Chuan-lin, reactionary member of the Grand Council, conscious of his own unpopularity, is anxious to resign, and has recommended Lu Jen-hsiang and Yi Ko to Yung Lu's patronage. The Emperor is prepared to accept Lu Chuan-lin's resignation, but the Empress Dowager is hesitating. H.E. Wang Wen-shao arrived at Peking on the night of the 8th and called on Prince Ching early yesterday morning to discuss the Manchurian Convention. He has stated that it is his intention to consult on all matters with Prince Ching, and he will not act on his own account as his predecessor Li Hung-shang did. H.E. Yuan Shi-kai has been advising Prince Ching to reject the Manchurian Convention. H.E. Yuan is continually discussing with the Foreign Ministers the discontinuance of the Tientsin Provisional Government."

The Amoy correspondent of our Shanghai morning contemporary writes:—"It may have escaped the notice of many readers of the newspapers, interested naturally in the progress of the campaign in the North last year, that the Fokien Province did not entirely escape. In the districts under my charge no less than twelve churches out of sixteen were damaged or destroyed, several being burnt down, and large numbers of native Christians were robbed and molested. Luckily, no lives were lost. But it has taken many months before all the cases could be satisfactorily settled and the compensation money paid up. However, I am glad to say that at last everything is settled, and all negotiations with the mandarins have ceased. We have reason for thankfulness that the authorities have met us so fairly and have not placed any serious obstacles in the way of settlement. We could have wished for a speedier adjustment of our claims, but procrastination seems to be inevitable when dealing with Orientals."

A curious case is reported from Manila. The complainants are Messrs. Gorman & Co. The defendants are all prominent ex-insurectors who during the year of 1898 formed a company at Malolos, then the insurgent capital, known as the Compania Filipina de Electricidad. The complaint alleges that on or about the fifteenth of December, 1898, Gorman & Co. sold to the Compania Filipina de Electricidad electrical supplies to the amount of $8,853.36 of which sum $3653 was paid, and now Gorman & Co. sue for the sum remaining due. The clerk of the Court of First Instance has notified the various members, ex-insurgent leaders mentioned in the complaint, and the case will probably come up during the January term of the Court. The result will be watched with interest, as there are many firms in Manila who hold bills against various insurgent enterprises, and should the Court rule in favour of Gorman & Co., a precedent will be established and many similar cases will be filed.

THE CATHEDRAL CHAPLAINCY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS":

Hongkong, 14th December.
SIR,—As a regular Church-goer, I fully endorse all that your correspondent "A Seat-holder" writes in his letter which appeared in yesterday's issue of your paper, and I think the thanks of the English church-going community are due to him for taking the initiative in a matter which affects all Church people so deeply, and upon which many feel very strongly. At the same time, I cannot but regret that the action of the Church Body renders it necessary that the publicity of the Press should be requisitioned for the discussion of a subject which would otherwise have been better discussed at a meeting of seat-holders, subscribers and regular attendants at the Cathedral.

I believe I am right in saying—I have it on excellent authority—that there is no doubt that the appointment of a successor to our present Senior Chaplain was actually made some time ago. That being the case, I should like to ask through the medium of your paper—there would seem to be no other means of doing it—(1) Why, granting its power to do so, the Church Body has taken such a responsibility, as this appointment undoubtedly is, upon its shoulders without allowing any of the seat-holders, subscribers etc., any voice in the matter? (2) Why, with the general meeting of seat-holders so near at hand, did the Church Body think it necessary to rush the matter through before the majority of church-goers even knew that our present Senior Chaplain contemplated resigning—and, as a matter of fact, before he had actually resigned? (3) Does the Church Body consider that it has done its duty as the representative of the congregation in trying its best to procure a really suitable man as successor to our present Senior Chaplain? (4) Can the present Church Body be considered "representative" of the congregation, seeing that the majority of its members have joined since the general meeting of seat-holders, etc., in January last? (5) Were all the members of the Church Body present at the meeting when this appointment was made? (6) Why has not the Church Body made known to the congregation, before this, its decision with regard to the appointment?

With regard to the first question, surely the seat-holders, etc., have a right to be consulted on a matter of such importance to them and for which they provide the necessary funds? It would have been only courtesy on the part of the Church Body to give them some say in the matter. In fact, throughout the whole business, it seems to me that the Church Body have been lamentably wanting in consideration for the feelings and wishes of those whom they are supposed to represent. I enclose my card.—Yours, etc.

CHURCH-GOER.

A SMOKE NUISANCE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS":

Hongkong, 14th December.
SIR,—With reference to the correspondence published in your issue of this date complaining of the smoke nuisance in Queen's Road at the foot of St. Francis Street, I think it is high time that the authorities should take some decisive steps to remove the noxious and offensive trades outside the City of Victoria. If my memory serves me right, some such scheme was brought before the Sanitary Board about 16 years ago, but owing to the want of empty houses outside the City the scheme was dropped. Now there are hundreds of new houses nearing completion at Mongkok-tani and other parts of the Kowloon Peninsula, there is no reason why the carrying-on of that scheme should be any longer delayed, inasmuch as it will help to relieve not only the overcrowding but also the high rent that is now prevailing in the City, in which the attention of the Government had been so much occupied. Thanking you for the insertion of this letter in the columns of your valuable paper—Yours, etc.

PRIVATE CHAIR AND RICKSHA COOLIES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS":

Hongkong, 14th December.
SIR,—Your correspondent "T.H." certainly gives some valuable advice as to the treatment of coolies by their employers, but his specific is too generally stated, viz., "to treat the coolies as human beings." The value of this advice would have been increased manifold if fuller definition had been given. A Prime Minister, a Congregationalist, and an Andamanese are equally human beings with a Chinese coolie, but not quite on the same plane of evolution. "T.H." could therefore give some practical suggestions as to how to treat Chinese coolies, so as to secure their goodwill, even to the extent of their crowding into a space sufficient for two, he would earn the gratitude of many others besides—Yours faithfully,

W.

A meeting of the National Organising Commission of the National Flower Congress was held at New Britain, Ct., on the 1st October to consider the subject of adopting the carnation as a national flower for America. The carnation was the favourite flower of President McKinley, and the Commission thinks it would be an honour to the late President to have this adopted. The prevailing sentiment, however, of the National Flower Association is divided between the gladiolus and columbine, which two are in the lead.

CHAPTER II.

THE NEW AMERICA.

The Russia of to-day is often termed the "new America"; the Russian themselves so regard it, but when one wishes to find exact points of resemblance, one is told that the position of the Russian empire which is most like the United States is the industrial and agricultural region in the south-east of European Russia. Travellers say that this country is much the same as the "middle states"; but for the Russians there, the "new America" is the distant land towards the sunrise; in central Siberia it is said to be beyond Baikal, and those there say that the "new America" is Manchuria.

Russia is presumed to rival America in extent, natural wealth, and recently, in productive power. In the south-east of Russia there grows better wheat than that of the Dobruška, a wheat that equals, if it does not surpass, the best of the Red River country. The wheat belt is an immense tract, but it can be extended almost indefinitely, and, it is said, the land to be brought under cultivation south-east of Samara is even better than any yet sown. It is on the "black soil," and much of the black-soil country remains to be opened up by railways and pioneer settlers. Here it may be said that the celebrated black-soil consists of a layer of thoroughly decomposed pure vegetable mould on a subsoil of sand or gravel. The thickness varies from two inches to more than two feet, and where it is thickest it is not likely ever to become exhausted providing that it is farmed in a sensible manner. Up to the present the land is cultivated in primitive fashion; the rotation of crops is not attempted, manures and top dressings are unused, the only remedy practised is to allow the land to lie fallow. In the production of wheat and other cereals Russia may rival America in the near future.

The next natural product of importance is timber; of this there is in Russia and Siberia an apparently inexhaustible supply. It is not so large as American timber; much of it is at present inaccessible, and the science of forestry is neither understood nor valued. Much of the forest is birch, and birch-wood makes the best paper-pulp. This is an industry which is in its infancy; it must grow and there is more than one fortune in it for the right people.

The exports of vegetable products, and even of mineral deposits, do not make an America. Given abundant natural resources and the means to exploit them, then industries will result, and it is industrial America that Russia attempts to rival.

It expects to attain the end by adopting the same method of rigid protection. The general state of Russian industries is considered to be satisfactory. Guaranteed a market, they have grown under the influence of protection, some increasing five, some four and some three-fold in a decade. The majority have just about doubled the turnover in the same term. The aggregate growth during the quinquennial period 1892-1897 was four times more rapid than the preceding five years, which itself was six times more rapid than the increase during the preceding ten years. In the words of the Minister of Finance, "the progress in our manufacturing industries proves clearly that the policy of protection has given excellent result." In fact, the development of industries has been so rapid that the production of raw material, coal, and iron, has been unequal to the demand, and has to be met by imports from foreign countries, although immense stores of both lie unworked at home.

In the metal industry, the works of the English New Russia Company are an early first. The mines are in the Kherson Government, about 75 miles from the port of Mariupol, on the Sea of Azov. The works were started so long ago as 1889, by Mr. John Hughes, of Downais, and have now grown into a town with a population of over 25,000. It is named Ustora after the founder, and is in every way a model settlement. The company employs some 15,000 hands, and is by far the largest iron producer in Russia, though in point of capital it is ninth down the list of iron companies. A year's output comprises 296,065 tons of pig iron, 120,000 tons of steel rails, 20,000 tons of manufactured iron, 150,000 tons of steel, three-quarters of a million tons of coal, and ten million bricks, besides lime, flux, manganese, and the like. The company provides a hospital and dispensary whose maintenance costs nearly £10,000 a year. Schools for 1,600 children turn over £15,000 a year, and in addition there are clubs, baths, co-operative supply stores, water-works, drainage and sanitary works, in short, this English company in Russia is almost of the best American companies in many things. Year after year it increased its dividend until it reached twenty per cent.; about a decade ago it paid 30 per cent.; in 1894, in addition to a cash dividend of 25 per cent., each share was doubled and since then dividends of 15 per cent., 20 per cent., and 25 per cent. have been paid. No companies in the same industry have done better, but in Russia several have done exceedingly well compared with similar undertakings in other countries.

The industries next in importance from the point of view of progress are: Textiles, animal products, food stuffs, glass, porcelain and pottery, chemicals and paper. In all these, large profits have been made. In most there is constant expansion of business, and primarily to serve these staple industries, there has been a corresponding increase of minor, collateral, manufacturing trades. Small traders, manufacturers, and adventurers in tentative fashion are not encouraged; the larger and bolder the undertakings the greater its chances of success.

In the "new America." Not all succeed; in every class there are failures; but in considering the possibilities of a country these may be ignored. It is sufficient to know that with average fortune and good management, large profits are obtainable.

One point all who would become interested in Russian enterprises must remember—Russia is a despotic country, and there is a direct variable tax upon trade and industries. In 1887, this direct impost yielded nearly 29 million roubles; it increased during the next ten years at an average rate of about two million roubles per annum, which may be taken as a fair, reasonable increase considering the growth of the industries. Thus in 1898, over 48 million roubles were derived by direct taxation of the trades and industries of Russia; in 1899, the sum actually received was over 61 million roubles, an increase in one year nearly equal to the aggregate increase of the ten previous years, and itself some seven millions in excess of the budget estimate. In 1900 the direct tax was expected to yield 59 millions, and for 1901 the estimate is 62,701,500 roubles. If, therefore, trade has doubled its turnover during the past decade, the direct impost has likewise doubled in the same term.

Again, without warning, an extra import duty of one rouble the prod of 16 lbs. was placed upon raw cotton, without drawbacks for existing contracts. Spinners were agitated, but—such is the law of the "new America."

It is unlikely that Russia as represented by the Ministry of Finance has any wish to cripple, much less kill, the goose which lay golden, taxable eggs. It is within the Minister's discretion to levy such tax as, in his opinion, the industries can afford to pay. An average assessment is sure to press hardly upon some industry, thus it is that those manufacturing concerns which survive are those which have been, and are, making the largest profit on a small capital and turnover. To be successful in the "new America" there must be a ample margin; it is suicidal to attempt either to out-price or meet competition. The apparent success of industrial Russia, therefore, is wholly dependent upon the market being reserved by artificial means and a monopoly conferred upon home products. Russia has not a surplus of manufactured goods for export, nor with the present taxation could she sell at a profit in a free market, even if the bulk of the produce sold in the protected market at present high prices. In a word, the competition of Russian manufacturers abroad is not to be feared at present. For one thing, there is ready a protected market in Russia and the east for all that the "new America" is capable of producing. Russia and Siberia are hungry for goods, for machinery of all kinds, and especially for machinery to make machines. The railways require more rolling stock, and development of new territories is hindered because the fiscal policy requires that the things so badly needed must be made within the empire. Russia exports wheat; it would be preferable to export flour, and mills of the latest type are being erected all over the best wheat-producing area; there is, and long will be, room for many more. Reaping machines, harvesters, threshers, and agricultural implements generally, are in great demand. As a Chicago drummer in Samara informed me, the country is a "soft map" for the firms doing business and having stocks.

One: To him it was a revelation that the users and consumers hunted about for the sellers instead of waiting for the new goods to be brought to their notice by travelling agents. A firm only recently engaging in business has sold 167 harvesters in Western Siberia in a single season. Should the tariff war between Russia and the United States continue, British goods ought to take the place of the American-made machines, against which there is now a differentiated tariff. Many other goods also could be supplied for the "new America" is hungry—very hungry.

It is in the south-west of Russia that improved methods of agriculture are soonest adopted; the peasants of the west and middle districts seem content to go on in the old inefficient way, or when by hard drudgery they fail to make a living, they migrate east and then continue their simple methods until the force of example compels them to change. There is no conservatism in Siberia outside official circles, but in Russia the old methods are clung to with surprising tenacity. There is lack of education, inability to adapt manners and methods to changed circumstances; a supreme belief in, and absolute reliance upon, the central government for everything.

In the "new America" there is no initiative; all has to be brought in from the outside. Given the idea, shown the way, helped to a fair start, the Russian can go ahead with facility. The teacher is delighted—more apt pupils never were found. All goes well until the machinery wears, or some little thing goes wrong; then things are at a standstill until outside help has been brought in to right them. If the same accident occurs from the same cause a second time, the Russian will be able to right matters; but if it is from a similar cause he is nonplussed. As a parrot speaks by rote without understanding, so the Russian workman does his task mechanically and without comprehending or attempting to comprehend the why and the wherefore of the different parts of the more or less complicated tools he has to tend daily. He can do what he has done or seen what he has seen before, but in the simplest things he is unable to trace the cause from the effect, or to remedy a trifling defect in a rough and ready but effectual way.

An experienced workman is a treasure, but experienced workmen are scarce, since the hands for the most part merely take to factory work in the intervals of agricultural employment. They are migrants, if not nomads, going in summer to their villages to till the common's holding, and returning, sometimes, to the mills for the winter. The changes become so annoying and expensive that factory managers endeavour to employ only regular workmen. Of these there are not many, and though the individual workman may be ready to stay on he may not do so if required for military service, if his village commune will not agree to his absence, or if the police decline to renew his passport. In the engagement of hands the Russian employer has to conform to conditions far more onerous than any demanded by a trades-union in Great Britain. Hedged round with laws that take away the essence of all free contract, employers and employed are frequently unable to agree on minor points, and are not free to give and take to their mutual advantage. Says the employer: "The state safeguards your interests; I conform to the law, I will do nothing more." Say the workers: "The conditions are too onerous; we cannot alter the law, we can cease to work, we will." With the complete code of factory regulations, with the government inspectors, the resident responsible manager, and the host of officers whose business it is to adjust the relations of workers and masters, such a strike cannot occur, that is, theoretically it cannot. If it does it is a misdemeanour and the penalty is fixed by the code. All the must the workmen scheme. In one mill all went as usual to their places, but refused to do any work. According to the code they had not struck they had not left their work, or broken their agreements, had committed no offence in the eye of the law. It nevertheless required the interference of the police and the propinquity of a body of Cossacks to get the mill emptied. The hands were all discharged, and a fresh lot engaged. The point of dispute was the old complaint of the hours of labour; the hands thought the regulation 11½ hours too much. Some of the employers thought so too, but in the "new America" all must be in accord before any change can be effected.

In attempting any comparison of Russia and America it is useless to regard natural resources. Possibly Professor Neudorff is right in his assertion that the Ural region has illimitable supplies of iron ore, and sufficient charcoal to produce from that ore several million tons of pig iron annually, but, as long as ore and fuel belong to the Government and may not be worked by private enterprise, the industries dependent on iron may consider the deposits as non-existent.

Physically Russia may resemble America, it may have a similar climate and equal natural advantages, but unless the Russian people possess certain qualities the American have, they will not make any "new America" of any part of the empire. The difference is immense. In the United States of America the state is the servant of the public, in Russia every individual is a servant of the state. In America a number of individuals combine for a certain purpose, achieve their purpose, and the state confirms or legalises their action. In Russia it is the state that initiates, the state that achieves, and the state that looks to the public for approbation. It is the state that leads, guides and pushes the public in the way it intends they should take. The state is not only the greatest landowner, but is the greatest trader, and the greatest railway contractor in the world. It works over 20,000 miles of railway, and besides administering the various manufacturing and other departments incidental to governing a modern state, it is more or less directly responsible for every enterprise undertaken within its territories. It regulates the hours of labour and even adjusts the scale of wages; by altering imposts it affects the prices of commodities and manufactured goods. So far reaching is the hand of the state that there seems little for the individual to do apart from it, consequently nearly all the best men are in the employ of the state. In one word the Russian State is a gigantic "trust," endeavoring to regulate its multitudinous businesses in a way that will return the largest profit. How it is grappling with various social problems, and in what manner its action is affecting the interests of different classes of subject, the student of Sociology may know. It is enough that its methods are different to those of the American Republic and bear no close resemblance to any of the means employed by European states to achieve pre-eminence.
